Ghetto Re'sume' (Part 1) Freddie Simmons

In life, we all go through struggles to do what we have to do to get by. Everyone has skeletons in their closets. The series of events we encounter as we journey through life serve as references on our resume of life. However, if you should so happen to be one of the unfortunate ones born into the ghetto, all of the hardship and pain you endure over the years to make it out of the ghetto will forever serve as references on your GHETTO RESUME. Goldie, born into this world DeQuan Walker, is what some people would call a freak of nature. His diverse ways and extraordinary IQ almost insures him an academic scholarship to a prestigious college of his choice. Growing up in poverty in the late 80 s, Goldie s stay-fly fetish turns him into a die-hard hustler, doing anything legal to make a dollar. When tragedy strikes Goldie s family, dire situations force him to become a man before he ever gets to enjoy being a boy. Hustling becomes an addiction for Goldie, and you know they say bad habits are hard to break. Snake, a high school dropout, is Southside St. Pete s most notorious drug dealer. It did not come easy, though. After years of grinding as a nickel-and-dime hustler in the projects, Snake worked his way to the top of the ladder, graduating to his current status of The Man. Snake has it all: money, power, respect, and a fleet of dime pieces. What do these two have in common? Find out what happens in this page-turning thriller when these two cross paths, and Snake walks away owing Goldie his life. Brace yourself and prepare to become a student of the streets, because never before has the game been handed to you on a silver platter like this.
